

OK, single gals. Let's talk Feng Shui and how it can make your life better! Feng what, you ask? Let's just say it's an old Chinese term for "Get house together and life get together quick!"

Let's face it, the queen doesn't live in a cardboard box and a poor gal doesn't own a castle. Everything around you broadcasts something, whether you're aware of it or not. Your living quarters are spilling the beans on what you think about yourself, what you think you deserve, and what you believe is possible to achieve.

This brings us to Feng Shui Rule No. 1:
What is going on in your life is going on in your environment.

Here's the "secret" Feng Shui language decoded for the average single gal's apartment. Check it out and see if moving your stuff can shift your life into high gear!

WHAT YOU'VE GOT	WHAT IT MEANS AND HOW TO FIX IT
One night stand by the bed	You're not looking for a permanent mate or not going to be successful if trying. You're possibly into "one night stands." Two matching nightstands hold the possibility for "making a match" with relationships ... as long as you don't fill them both up with your stuff!
Head of bed or office chair back against a window	You don't get the respect you deserve; you're probably ragged on by your boss at work, teachers at school, or peers. Well-respected people have a strong solid wall behind them where they sleep, work, and hang out.
Many single subjects in your decorative art	You're single. If you don't want to be, try changing to art that has two subjects in it. Get it? Couples. Other good choices: calendar pictures of nature scenes. These can help balance unhealthy spaces and bring order to the funkier of spaces.
The stove doesn't work	Money troubles! Stoves equal prosperity, and more burners mean more money-making opportunities. Once again, the rich person has the 8-burner Viking stove; the poor person has the hot plate. What can you do if you've got the hot plate? Put mirrors nearby to reflect the hot plate. Feng Shui says what's in the mirror is as real as the object itself. Which brings us to ...
A messy bedroom and big mirrored closet doors	Twice as many messy situations in your life than you thought you had.
A dirty, tattered, or ill-maintained front door	No opportunities are coming your way without a serious energy outlay from you. Let's say if trick-or-treaters pass your door, or UPS can't find you for a delivery, opportunity will probably have trouble finding you too. Paint it, stain it, clean it, or get a new one. You'll attract opportunities by making your door the most exciting door around. Hang a chime outside if no one can find your door easily (on the non-hinged side) and you'll have more choices in life.

Move Your Stuff, Change Your Life – Introductory Price $18.95

How to Use Feng Shui to Get Love, Money, Respect, and Happiness By Karen Rauch Carter.

This book is not only a national best seller; many consider it a classic - the book that started it all! Written in a fun, easy-to-learn manner, Move Your Stuff Change Your Life is by far one of the easiest books to read and understand, whether you are just learning about Feng Shui, or if you are a seasoned practitioner. Promising health, wealth, and happiness, Feng Shui offers endless appeal -- at least in concept. Feng Shui's seemingly complicated methods may seem difficult to learn and apply in a meaningful way. Karen Rauch Carter writes in plain and simple English for the modern Western reader. Organized by real-life issues, Karen explains how to arrange the stuff you already own to get what you want in life. Simple illustrations point out the areas of your home to concentrate on. The suggestions are realistic (absolutely no construction required), free or low-cost, and, most important, effective.

3" Round Bevel Edge Mirror – Regular $4.95 Introductory Price $3.95

A mirrors' reflective characteristic provides a powerful tool to influence the energy flow in your environment. A circular-shaped mirror represents wholeness, oneness and unity. These 3" Round mirrors are excellent to expand, offset and deflect energy throughout the space. Often used to offset negative energy drains and are commonly affixed to the ceiling when the toilet is above the front door, the stove, bed and/or dining room table. Can be placed freely or secured to most surfaces with double-sided adhesive backing.
